Senior Faculty

Ian Hagemann, MD, PhD

Senior faculty are welcomed to the May newsletter. This month we highlight the administrative changes that have occurred during COVID-19 as well as new initiatives and resources available to faculty and staff. We also recognize our spring maternity and sabbatical leaves.

Flip through the newsletter to view the content and links.

May 2020 Newsletter

Office of Faculty Development
Pathology & Immunology
Excellence, Respect, Inclusion and Diversity
Saint Louis, MO | 63110 US
660 S. Euclid, Campus Box 8118, IOH, Ste. 5805
View this email
Got this as a forward?
Manage
Share this email:

Congratulations to our Faculty!

Read about each of their accomplishments at this link

Academic and Molecular Pathology

Samuel Backer, MD appointed Assistant Professor of P&I
Heidi Lin, MD appointed Associate Professor of P&I
Friederike Kreisel, MD promoted to Professor
Ian Hagemann, MD, PhD promoted to Associate Professor
Mariana Ruzinova, MD, PhD promoted to Associate Professor
Cody Weinreich, DO promoted to Assistant Professor

Laboratory and Genomic Medicine

Jonathan Brentoff, MD, PhD appointed Assistant Professor of P&I
Raj Parkash, MD, PhD promoted to Assistant Professor

Immunobiology

Christopher Nelson, PhD promoted to Associate Professor
Klausax Wes, MD, PhD promoted to Assistant Professor

Academy of Educators at WU Designing and Leading Case-based Learning Sessions

This workshop will provide guidance for selecting cases and writing plans for case-based learning activities in a curriculum, as well as tips for facilitating a small group case-based discussion in person or on Zoom. The workshop will build relevant skills for curriculum developers, course directors, and case-based learning teachers/facilitators.

Learning objectives—At the end of this workshop participants will be able to:

1. Evaluate when to use case-based learning to enhance education
2. Discuss effective case design for small group learning
3. Develop techniques for facilitating small group case-based learning
4. Describe an approach to writing student and faculty guides

Please contact your Zoom invite. Thank you!

Date: 05/20/2020 (Wed.) Time: 1:00pm - 2:30pm CDT
Location: Email

Scientific Editing

The Scientific Editing Service (SES) is available to assist with the final peer review of manuscripts. We welcome contributions to our application, and manuscripts with some degree of polish will be prioritized. Experience and recommendations will be used to maximize the potential of each manuscript. Please contact your submitter to discuss your needs.

COVID-19 Professional Development & Management Resources

Leadership in the Time of COVID-19
Alternate job-related activities for staff and students at home

Twitter Submissions

Do you Tweet on Twitter? The OFD is applying for WUSM approval to have a Twitter account. We welcome all Tweets you would like to share.

Probationary Period Paused for WUSM

"Due to severe disruptions in academic career progress imposed by pandemic conditions, the tenure probationary period will be killed (paused) for the entire academic year. This includes a full academic year for all faculty members currently in their probationary period and for all faculty members who commence their probationary period from this day forward as well as the next 15 months, through June 30, 2021. Faculty members may also choose not to use the extra time and proceed as if the end date on their tenure status form will be automatically moved forward in time by one year."

Office of Faculty Development

Share this email:

Manage your preferences | Opt out using TrueRemove™
Get this on a browser? Sign up to receive our future emails.
View this email online.

460 S. Guicci, Campus Box 8115, MC, St. Louis, MO 63110 US
This email was sent to:
Continue receiving our emails, add us to your address book.

Subscribe to our email list.