[Here's LIVE] Kentucky Derby Horse Race 2024 Live Streams, Free ON TV Channels

This Saturday marks the 150th running of the Kentucky Derby. More than 150,000 fans are expected to pack into Churchill Downs to watch the first leg of horse racing's Triple Crown.

There are a few standout favorites heading into Saturday's race, including Sierra Leone with odds of 3-1, and Fierceness, currently handicapped at 5-2. You can see all of the Derby odds here.

If you're not traveling to Kentucky to experience the "most exciting two minutes in sports" firsthand, there are plenty of ways to feel the energy of the race from home. Here are the best ways to watch the race live.

When is the Kentucky Derby 2024?

The Run for the Roses returns for its 150th Kentucky Derby this Saturday, May 4, 2024.

What time is the Kentucky Derby on?

Coverage of the 150th Run for the Roses will begin on race day as early as 12 p.m. ET. The actual Kentucky Derby race won't begin until after 6:30, likely around 6:45 p.m.

2024 Kentucky Derby channel:

The 150th Kentucky Derby will air on NBC and stream live on Peacock.

How can I watch the Kentucky Derby on TV in the US?

If you don't have cable, you still have plenty of options. The least expensive that doesn't require streaming is to connect an over-the-air antenna to your TV and tune in to your local NBC station.

If you're streaming on a PC, phone or tablet, you can watch on NBCSports.com, Peacock Premium or the NBC Sports app.

You could also check out a live TV streaming service, all of which offer free trials. Not every service carries your local NBC station, however, so check the links below to make sure.

How to watch the Kentucky Derby 2024 online from anywhere using a VPN

If you find yourself unable to view the Kentucky Derby locally, you may need a different way to watch the race -- that's where using a VPN can come in handy. A VPN is also the best way to stop your ISP from throttling your speeds on game day by encrypting your traffic, and it's also a great idea if you're traveling and find yourself connected to a Wi-Fi network, and you want to add an extra layer of privacy for your devices and logins.

With a VPN, you're able to virtually change your location on your phone, tablet or laptop to get access to the game. Most VPNs, like our Editors' Choice, ExpressVPN, make it really easy to do this.

Using a VPN to watch or stream sports is legal in any country where VPNs are legal, including the US, UK and Canada, as long as you have a legitimate subscription to the service you're streaming. You should be sure your VPN is set up correctly to prevent leaks: Even where VPNs are legal, the streaming service may terminate the account of anyone it deems to be circumventing correctly applied blackout restrictions.
